Way is this project necessary?

In spite of the progress achieved with the Community strategy on health and safety at work (2002-2006), the 4th European survey of working conditions show that occupational hazards are not being reduced in a uniform way and certain sectors, between them agriculture are still particularly dangerous.

The current strategy 2007 -2012 includes the challenge of new and larger flows of migrants towards Europe in the field of health and safety that is continuing to grow in importance and demands to the member States for implementing a package of instruments which guarantee a high level of compliance with the legislation, in particular in SMEs and high-risk sectors.

Furthermore the strategy also mentions that special attention should also be paid to training for workers to make them aware of the risks in the company and how to prevent and combat them.

This is particularly important for SMEs and migrant workers.

Project aims

The overall goal of this project is to transfer at European level the Spanish training course on Health and Safety at work (risk prevention) in agriculture to train farmers, remunerated persons and self-employed workers

The idea is based in the transference this complete programme to other countries (Poland, Romania and Bulgaria) with some of the following characteristics:

- significant amount of employment
- deficiencies in labour risk prevention training
- high accidents rate
- high volume of in-migrants from these nationalities working in agriculture

Furthermore other main objective is the promotion if the use of ICT through adaptation of the programme to a B-Learning system so it can be adapted and used in the target countries and agriculture sector.
